

ALMA MATER

*Beneath the Jersey skies of blue,
In Montclair's mountain town
There stands our college, tried and true
And growing in renown.
We love thy campus, love thy halls,
And oft to thee we raise
With loyal lips and loyal hearts
United songs of praise.
We love thy colors, dear Montclair
The Scarlet and the White
May they forever help us dare
To choose and do the right.
And though in after years our fate
May lead us far apart
Nor time nor space may separate
The ties that bind the heart.*

CHORUS

*All, hail, all hail, Montclair!
To thee our voices raise,
Alma Mater, dear Montclair
Our undying hymn of praise.*

La Campana

Dedicated to . . .

. . . Dr. Rufus Reed, we, the Class of 1949 proudly dedicate our yearbook. In this twentieth year of his service to the college and its students, it is only fitting that we, on behalf of the entire student body, extend some tangible evidence of our sincere appreciation for all Dr. Reed has done. His cheerful friendly smile, his keen intelligent mind, his enthusiastic ability to make subject matter live, and above all, his support and active interest in his students are the attributes which have endeared Dr. Reed in the hearts of us all.

It is an honor and a privilege to dedicate La Campana, 1949 to so memorable a teacher, guide, and friend.

DR. RUFUS REED

In Montclair's Mountain

The train depot, the Weary Erie, the Gallopin' 60 — these are essentials to commuters, and the life line between classes, college, and home.

One of the most familiar sights in Upper Montclair is the Valley Diner, haven for all hungry MSTC students.

Town . . .

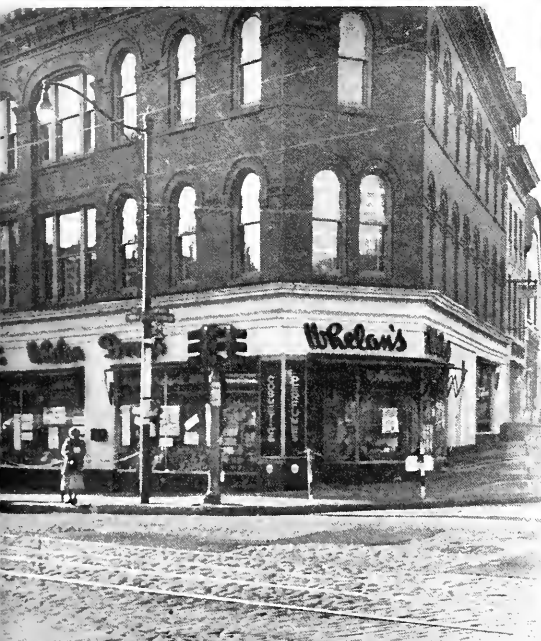

Our college, set high upon a wind-swept hill overlooks the town of Upper Montclair. This arena of activity for Montclairites includes three city blocks of soda shops and hunger havens. The Wednesday night parade usually double-files down to the Bellevue for the latest in screen stories. The English architecture of Montclair's shops, the too-well known reservoir, and the Diner are familiar to all.

Montclair is thoughtfully divided into three parts: Lower for greater choice of soda shops, Upper for convenience, and Halfway for the time-pressed. All are conveniently accessible via the faithful old 60 bus, and Valley Road, beautifully lined with trees, remains in our memories as a favorite leisure time hiking route.

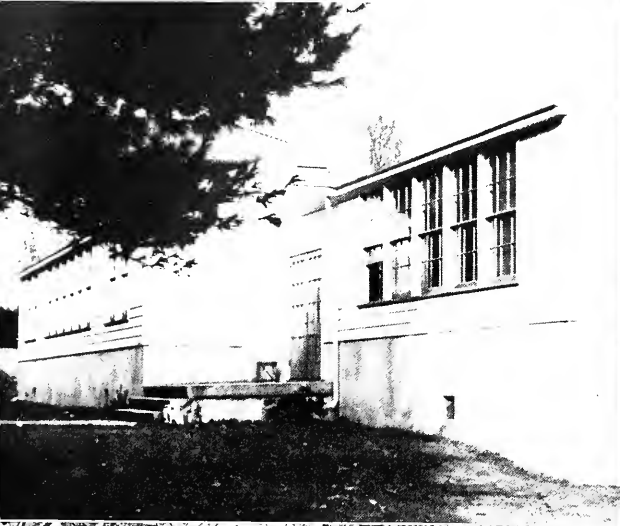

"Going to Upper?" It may be a paradox, but this question is the most frequently heard query on campus.

Bellevue Avenue, in Upper Montclair, provides fulfillment of three vital college needs: money, letters, and relaxation!

Newark, Journal Square, Orange, New York, and all points home! The Lower Montclair bus stop is a well-known traveler's point of departure.

There Stands Our College

Tried and True . . .

ABOUT THE COLLEGE

Yes, beneath the Jersey skies of blue, our college stands. It stands high on a hill, well-rooted in our memory. The Spanish architecture and verdant landscaping recall the atmosphere of books, friends and college life. We can reminisce about the sportive, the scholastic, the unforgettable.

Montclair is set near the lowest cloud overlooking Bergen and Essex counties. It is a man-made part of the Watchung range. The biggest city of the world can be seen in the distance—a horizon of bright lights and activity.

Our college wears a wall-to-wall rug of green in the Spring and white carpeting in the winter. The perennial greens of our pines, the red brick walks, the blue skies and pink shiny faces with dull black books afford a prism of our reflections.

The erection of new landmarks, our Music and WA Buildings have added to the further utilization of more of Montclair's seventy acres.

Yes, we can trot on down the hill of learning (to our usual bus stop) with fond recollections of patient profs, trying terms, gab fests, fond friends and the wealth of wisdom we've acquired within the college halls. With loyal lips and loyal hearts we unite in songs of praise.

And Growing

JUNIOR OFFICERS

Thee We Raise

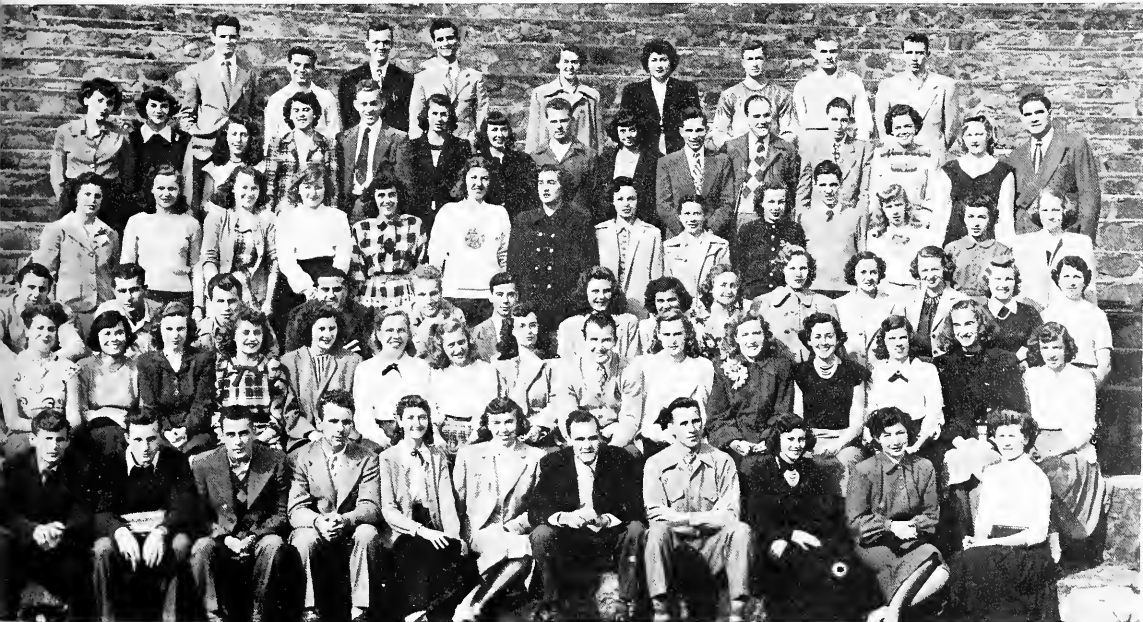

The class of '50 finds Montclair's three year-olds with a distinction of their own. Theirs is the largest class MSTC has ever harbored. With the vast variety that number offers, the Juniors find among them some of the college's most admired and accepted students—the workers, the actors, the philosophers, the creative, the average, and of course the pro and con characters of the rank and filed—under miscellaneous. The Veterans that entered with this class added a new spirit to classes, activities, sports—and the girls.

Class members began their scholastic war in the Fall of '46, as wide-eyed, red capped Frosh. They spent their initial week as Sophomores with a common bitter tongue and unyielding heart persecuting their subordinate, uniformed followers. They spent the remainder of the year engaged in laborious studies and battles of surrender. With the establishment of their 3.5's, they became worldly Juniors, dusted their road maps and guided their little sisters and brothers through the Inferno and Paradise that awaited them.

Many of the original cast have been lost because of acceleration or advanced credits but the class is still large and promising. The fact that the sports activities have shown a mark of rejuvenation with the athletes of the class of '50 is advertisement enough.

Yes—its members as well as sub- and super-ordinates respect the quantity, but most assuredly the quality of the Junior Class.

A large black and white group photograph of the 1964-1965 Yearbook Staff. The group consists of approximately 60 students, both male and female, posed in about eight rows on a wide set of stone steps. The students are dressed in formal or semi-formal attire typical of the mid-1960s, including sweaters, blouses, skirts, and suits. The background is the textured surface of the stone steps. The overall composition is a classic group portrait for a yearbook staff.

Sophomore is literally translated as the "wise". True to its Greek root, the '51 class of MSTC is wise. With zest and cooperation the members carved their niche in the totem pole. These little Indians developed from meek Freshmen to stately Sophomores, and brought with them firm convictions of individualism. Theirs is an active class possessing the originality and co-operation necessary for successful endeavors.

The Sophomore Dance held early this year met with the first election of a "Miss Sophomore". The complimented beauty, Alma Pelosi, was the popular choice. Their class dance in April was the first Sophomore affair to be held off campus, and unlike Soph classes of past years, this wise group has made plans for summer affairs.

The Sophs were the mean whip-flippers of Freshman Week. They made their Frosh inferiors laugh, flush, smile and endure the antics of counting bricks or blades of grass. Where Sophs assembled, the Frosh trembled; but the treaty was signed by the one-year Indians at the annual Peace Dance, where the pipe was passed—and so was the misery.

The Sophs have shown an energetic interest in all they've undertaken. They possess the progressive qualities which promise a successful future for MSTC.

of Praise

Now that MSTC is operating on a more or less normal basis—the war years being over and the number of Vets greatly diminishing—we can turn to a study of Freddy Freshman, the high school graduate with a yearning for learning.

He is the fella you saw the first week of school wearing a bathing cap and showering smiles. His sturdy character made possible his survival of Frosh week, he learned the Alma Mater, and then resolved to crack at least a 3.5 average. (He was young and foolish then.)

Next, Freddy participated in the social schedule, that began with "Winter Whirl" the first class dance. It set a precedent as the only Freshman formal ever held. Freddy helped to don the hall with blue 'n white. He helped make the snowman for the middle of the dance floor and was most cooperative in helping the ice cream cone refreshments to disappear. He claims he will never forget that memorable March 5th.

Now that Freddy has managed to catch up with Agamemnon and has spent the usual forty days and forty nights in the library, he has become enthused about shedding his label of distinction. Yes, he's changing his name to Sam Sophomore—1949.

The Council of the WAA which acts as a governing body is composed of officers elected by the members of the organization, sports chairmen, and the club advisers.

The Men's Athletic Association is comprised of two student representatives and three faculty members. All college men's athletic activities are supervised and financed through this very capable commission.

The "Rah Rah" element at Montclair had a change of voice this past year. The addition of Ernie Beier and Werner Schanzenbach were welcome assets to our cheering squad. The first Co-Ed cheering season was a spirited one. Ruth Fitz-Maurice and Margy McHugh co-captained this past sports season. With new cheers and new uniforms the squad did well in "rahing" Montclair through victories and losses. Vocal chords permitting, the pep rallies were successful and appreciated. The Red and White "inspirations" are a memorable part of MSTC's sports activities.

FOOTBALL

With an inspiring coach and a fighting heart, the Montclair Indians ended an impressive season that held MSTC rooters spellbound through eight gridiron engagements. The Indians finished the campaign with a record of four victories, one loss, and three tie encounters.

As we look back on the 1948 season, several aspects of football at Montclair are outstanding. First and foremost, of course, are the players themselves. To them we owe a hearty expression of appreciation for a job extremely well done. Hard work and plenty of long hours at practice produced a fighting bunch of Indians who war-whooped their way through a worthy season.

Fifteen performers from this year's squad are expected to form the nucleus of the 1949 team, for Armistice Day, 1948 and the victory over Trenton State Teacher's College, marked the last performance for many outstanding graduating warriors. Co-captains Don Fusco and Ted Bland have bid farewell to MSTC fighting grounds, as well as Les Agnello, Mike Bury, George Cuzolino, John Duane, Ernie Gebler, Moe McGee, John Schmuck, Howie Skarbnik, Len Sobo, Gene Stempler, Bill Todt, Lee Walsky, and Marty Zwillman.

Montclair proudly boasts this year, however, of a new distinction, for the gridiron pride, Gene Stempler, leaves MTSC for bigger hunting grounds. Gene recently took another step forward when he signed a contract with the New York Giants of the National Professional Football league. With him on his march to pigskin prominence the "pro" way, Gene "The Bear" Stempler has the wishes of all Montclair for a successful future and a terrific career ahead.

Next, honors and thanks go to the team coaches. The team could not have done it without the capable guidance and skillful training of Coach Alden Coder and his assistant Bill Dioguardi. These two men devoted time, ability, and a lot of hard work to the team, and the success of their efforts can be measured best by the scoreboard results.

The unsung heroes of the gridiron are the managers. These fellows, under the leadership of senior manager, Floyd Robinson, did a great job. Floyd was assisted by his five able managers, John Bell, Joe Embry, Will Eaves, George Nichols, and Bill Robbins. To these faithful gridiron backers go a great big round of applause and a medal for merits beyond the line of duty.

The traditional football spirit was kept alive and burning by a peppy bunch of cheerleaders who have developed into a worthy tribal council of pep and steam. The band is also to be commended, as well as the sound committee. Montclair football in this 1948 season reached an all time high in the amount of enthusiasm exhibited by the spectators at the weekly games. All these people had something to do with the fine support the Indian Braves were given during the gridiron campaign this year.

Yes, Montclair is proud of its 1948 football season. From the first minute of the night game at Upsala to the last second of the Trenton encounter, the Red and White showed fighting spirit and sportsmanship worthy of the highest praise. Hats off, Montclair! Indians, we salute you!

The Montclair squad is divided into four teams. One team is a group of freshmen who are being trained in the Coder way to carry on the work of their gridiron predecessors. These fellows can be relied on to take up where the graduating warriors leave off.

The remainder of the Indian squad is divided into three teams of equal rank and ability. The men are grouped according to their success in working together, their cooperation and smooth functioning as teams.

Coach Coder's method of forming teams of equal standing and ability has proved quite successful. It's unique, and it's brought us a football season we're proud of.

"You do your best boys . . ."

Hold that line!

It lies through the air

"Sultan of Swat"

Coming in on a run

He's safe! Or is he?

The '49 team will be without the services of some half dozen members of the squad that won five and lost seven in the 1948 campaign.

Men like George Patson, who doubled up with basketball and was one of its highest scorers; Marty Zwillman, who line-captained the football team; Art Kull, who shone in three sports; Frank Bessinger who managed the nine; John Duane, the halfback and third baseman; Lee Walsky, the all-around athlete who co-captained the nine and five and who received Little All-America mention two years running in football, have donned Montclair Athletic uniforms for the last time.

Nevertheless, these men of the diamond set the stage for the new Coach, Bill Dioguardi and the 1949 baseball team. Here's to a bright victorious season ahead!

BASKETBALL

Jump ball

A major sports interest at MSTC is that one played on the ribbed court. Basketball incites a great deal of enthusiasm and pride in the spirit of Montclairites.

The Coach's cagemen keep dust from settling on the baskets with their super-activities in the arena for ten. The Indian Courtsters have always ranked high, home and away, for their commendable sportsmanship. Competition is keen and clean. The vast turnout at Montclair games is evidence of enthusiastic school support. LIU, St. John's, CCNY, and NYU are a few of the top-notch opponents MSTC has met. Versatility and capability of the players, many of whom are two-letter men, are the qualities out of which Coach Coder has molded a fine team.

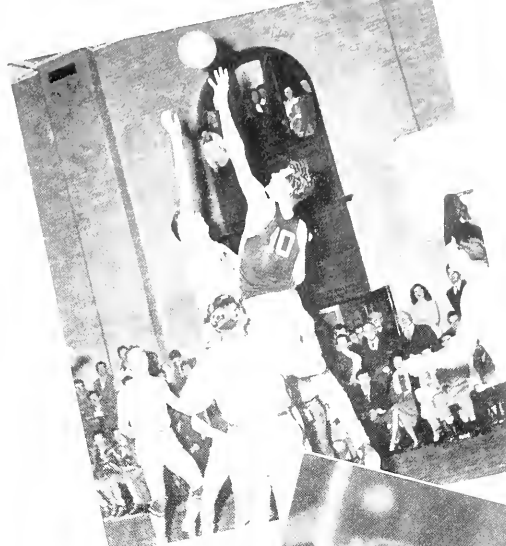

The men played a terrific schedule, giving the backboards, the score keepers, and especially the opposition, a busy, unforgettable season.

The Indian Quintet is deserving of compliment, recognition, and thanks for their unstilted drive for victory and love of sport.

Such men as Gifford, Walsky, Solomon, MacArthur, Sobo, Wojtas, and Patson are valuable to Montclair's reputation for victory. We are proud to know that such is the stuff that teams are made of.

ROW 1—MacArthur, Patson, Walsky, Elia, Kolich, Kull, Ferrie. ROW 2—Nugent, Scofield, Solomon, Waddon, Gifford, Palmeri, Peck, Mr. Coder.

CROSS COUNTRY

Montclair's hard running harriers rounded out a triumphant season with a solid second place rating in the New Jersey A.A.U. Junior championships — missing victory spoils by one point!

Led to victory by able Harry Savage and Jimmy McMillan, the team literally swept to a successful season's climax. The team's inspirational coach, Dick Willing, serves notice to all and sundry that his entire squad is returning for next year's season.

TRACK

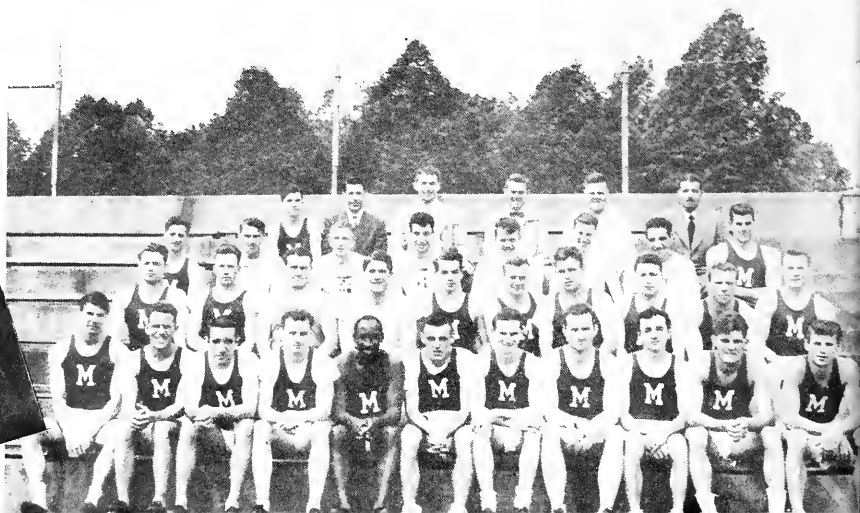

Montclair's trackmen, led by co-captains Howie Hamilton and John Solomon, raced, hurtled and hurled to six victories in seven meets, losing only to Stroudsburg Teachers. The team also participated in the Seton Hall Relays, Penn Relays, the C.C.N.Y. Invitational Meet, and the A.A.U. State Track and Field Championships.

Coach Richard Willing, in his first year as coach of the spring track program is to be commended for so ably filling the coaching gap left by Coach Coder. His capable training has yielded M.S.T.C. a team of spirited spikemen.

KNEELING: Finestine, Mack. STANDING: Kleinman, Silver, Hays, Yarmis, Friedlander, Coach De Rosa.

With the coming of the first warm days of Spring, the Montclair "raqueteers" may be seen slashing the "pill" on the local courts.

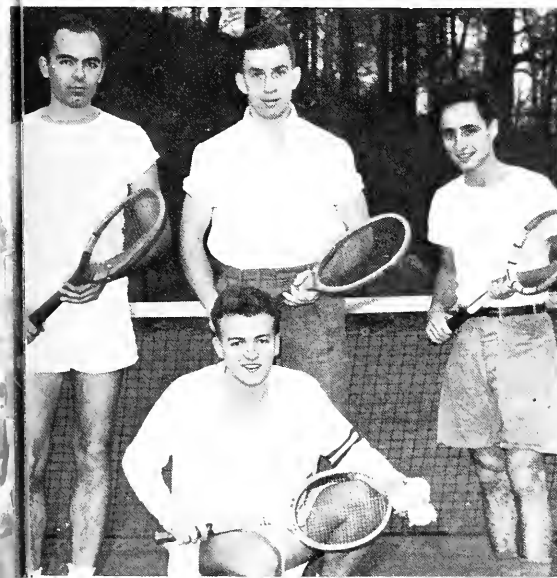

Last year's tennis squad, hindered by an unusually rainy season, held its own against such power drivers as New Britain, East Stroudsburg, Upsala, Paterson State and Trenton.

The Round-Robin tournament held last summer showed that the tennis bug has bitten quite a number of underclassmen. We are assured of good material for future teams. Captain George Hays won the tournament after long and grueling matches with Frank Feldman, a promising new-comer, Les Finestine, the team's powerhouse, and Mel Kopleman who played amazingly well in the Finals. Jimmie Gardner, Roy Thomas, Al Rabasca and Andy Hansen are newcomers with promising possibilities.

ROW 1 — Harriston, Bagolie, Millar, Pelosi, Merrill. ROW 2 — Kaiser, Mauriello, McHugh, Gray, Alexander, Gordon. ROW 3 — Mr. Froehlich, McGuire, Salt, Slocum, Christensen, Teutsch.

The SGA is the core of all college activity here at Montclair. This board is made up of the class presidents, two representatives from each class, and the officers of the SGA who are elected annually in a school-wide ballot procedure.

Together in the true democratic tradition, this cross-section of the student body meets bi-monthly to determine college student policies and to guide student activities.

It is upon recommendation of the SGA that clubs are granted charters and receive necessary funds for carrying out term programs. It is through this organization that MSTC athletics and publications are financed and organized. Finally, it is under the auspices of this administrative group that college dances and assemblies are sponsored.

The democratic nature of the organization and the conscientious devotion to duty of its members are primary factors in the success of the Montclair College Student Government Association.

The NSA is the only true representative group of American college student bodies. MSTC became a member in 1946 when the organization was formed. It offers many services to the American student and marks the era of the awakening of college youth throughout the country.

This college has had representatives at every conference connected with the NSA, and participated in the activities of the Executive Committee of the New Jersey Region of the NSA, since its beginning.

The unity between college students that this organization has prompted is a commendable accomplishment. The fact that every American college student may participate in its various interesting activities is an enticing factor within itself.

Its growth may be seen in the 395 colleges represented and the total enrollment of approximately 1,500,000 student members.

WHO'S WHO

Each year Who's Who Among Students In American Universities and Colleges recognizes students from approximately six hundred schools in the United States and Canada. In selecting students to be recommended, the campus nominating committee is asked to consider outstanding effort and accomplishment in academic work, extra-curricular activities and service to the school. Certificates are awarded to the selectees and a placement service is provided through which members may be recommended for employment.

These verbal battles give participants opportunities for practice in speaking before a group as well as training them to formulate and express their opinions clearly and logically. Topics for discussion are never limited and the wide range of material provokes pertinent and enthusiastic discussions.

Rostrum has many ambitious plans for the future, among which is the desire to send student speakers to nearby high schools. Though comparatively new to the college campus, Rostrum has proved itself a lively and purposeful organization.

It furthers an interest in mathematics by discussion of those phases of the subject not usually taught in the classroom and by integration of academic pursuits with varied social events. Inter nos — "among ourselves" — is the spirit perpetuated throughout this organization. Together the members become acquainted with the Roman culture and language by participating in social activities woven around Roman customs. These individualists refuse to allow the classical languages to remain "dead languages"

In the fall a get-together is held at which the upper classmen meet and initiate incoming freshmen. In the spring, the club makes an annual trip to New York to visit the Metropolitan Museum and to see a play. The season draws to a close with a revival of a Roman banquet.

Keeping up the French tradition of vivacity and spirit, the French Club launches an ambitious program each semester.

In order to better acquaint themselves with France, its people, its customs, and its folklore, the members of Le Cercle Francais gather together on the third Monday of each month.

The students send toys at Christmastime to the children in Martinique, and have collected warm clothing for the French.

In addition to furthering international relations, the members of the club find the experience useful in guiding extra-curricular activities when they enter the teaching field.

LA TERTULIA ESPANOLA

Spanish is here to stay at Montclair, as La Tertulia Espanola brings the clicking castanets, and gay songs and dance of old Spain to the college campus. Members of the Spanish Club meet officially once a month to study the customs and culture of Spain. The meetings which are conducted entirely in Spanish, are only a minor activity of this enthusiastic group, however, for the Spanish majors and minors who comprise the membership, are constantly at work perfecting and rehearsing for their colorful fiestas. These programs are well known to all Montclair students, for their popularity is proof of their success.

It is not necessary that members be speech minors, for the chief purpose of the club is to further interest and to create an opportunity for expression in this field. The meetings of the club are as lively and entertaining as they are varied. This year's theatre party is one highlight of the club program which no member of Zeta Phi will forget.

SCIENCE CLUB

Students who casually stroll through the corridors after five P.M. are immediately tabbed "science-major-coming-from-another-lab". These hard working members of our student body have one of the most active clubs on campus. The tireless work of these "young Einsteins" can best be shown by the type of meetings they hold. Everything from liquid air to atomic energy is eagerly discussed because the members know these meetings will help them to better teach a boundless subject.

Guest speakers at the bi-monthly meetings, the spring banquet, and fun at the Christmas party all take their places in the memories of Science Club members.

Both the female and male of the species find an interest in the agile sport of fencing. This organized group does well in the development of agile stepping and nimble movement. The arts of lunging, retreating, and the rest are taught by capable instructors.

The group this year started a new precedent of matching Montclair fencing skills with competition from other colleges. Under the competent leadership of Math prof., Mr. George Kays, the fencing club has proved itself a mighty powerful group.

Bible study, fellowship through spiritual and social contacts, and the encouragement of higher standards of living constitute the three-fold purpose of this interdenominational organization.

Study and discussion meetings led by students, missionary programs, movies and slides, and a regular monthly meeting attended by students from other colleges, are some of the activities sponsored by the group. Speakers from schools and churches provide many interesting topics for consideration at the meetings of this enthusiastic Christian group.

TRIBE

The ingenuity of our Tribe members is startling. What to expect next? From the sale of hot dogs, cake and candy to the financing of awards for MSTC athletes; from dances and hawk programs to the formation of our athletic policy; versatile and go-getting, that's Tribe!

The seven major sports provide the letter-men for membership to Tribe. In the past year this organization also introduced professional appearing football programs, with illustrations of the players. It was an inspiring movement that Montclair heretofore has lacked.

AGORA

The men's organization known 'round the campus as Agora was organized in the interests of stimulating fellowship and school spirit. Its members join in the choral serenading of dorm dwellers after each of their semi-monthly meetings.

Among their special activities are the opera house, banquet, and Variety Show, first introduced in the Fall of 1947 for the War Memorial Fund Benefit.

The annual initiation of new members in their knights regalia never fails to brighten the hall of MSTC. The Agorians have succeeded in adding smiles and enlightenment to these, our college days.

FORUM

A men's organization chartered only two years ago, Forum has done very well in establishing itself as one of our foremost discussion groups.

Membership is open to all men on campus who desire to learn more of what is happening in the world about them. Their chief interests are centered upon conducting thought stimulating problems. Much may be gained by contributing discussions of social, economic and political opinions and ideas at these meetings.

Under the capable leadership of one of our outstanding social studies professors, this organization may look forward to an increased membership and to a successful future.

PHI LAMA PI

Phi Lambda Pi, one of the newer men's organizations on campus, has gained recognition in the social and cultural circles of the school.

Chief among the principles of Phi Lambda Pi is the promotion of a stronger bond of fellowship among Montclair men. Another function of the group is the encouragement of a better understanding of the male-role in the field of education. Forums on this topic are the bases of many stimulating meetings.

A much awaited event is the Phi Lambda Pi formal at which the Queen of the Campus is chosen by popular vote from candidates of each class. Memories, traditions, camaraderie, and understanding are forever strong in the fellowship of Phi Lambda Pi.

SENATE

Senate, the oldest men's organization on campus, celebrates its twentieth birthday this year. All through the years, Senate has shared many of the goals toward which our civilization strives. The theme of Senate's monthly social meetings this year has been "Contemporary Trends in Our Society". Trends in all fields were discussed by the Senators as they lounged comfortably in the informal atmosphere of the home of Mr. Harold C. Bohn, who, for a number of years, has graciously opened his home to Senate. In line with Senate's policy of service to the school, the "On Records" program of classical and semi-classical music has continued to the enjoyment of many Montclairites.

The MSTC band started its climb to musical heights under the expert guidance of Mr. Moore. The band has been a source of inspiration to everyone, with its fanfare at football games. Their unusual selections and talents help to yield to the group the attention that a "Big Brass Band" always demands.

Within the past year, the band has conducted numerous concerts both on and off campus. We remember their musical accompaniment during the visit of the Freedom Train and the spirit it aroused. Mr. Moore and his promising "tooters" do well in showing their accomplished training and "note"-worthy spirit.

One of the outstanding music department claims to campus fame is the orchestra. These presentations at Christmas time and in the spring are eagerly awaited by faculty, students and guests. Many schools in the immediate vicinity enjoy performances by the orchestra, also.

The only qualification for eligibility is the ability to play an orchestral instrument. From the group eligible for membership the director chooses those whose talents will prove of greatest value to the orchestra.

CHOIR

Conductors of voice

1949 marks the twentieth anniversary of the formation of the Montclair College Choir. It celebrates twenty years of a capella song here on campus as well as a score of years of good fun and fellowship.

Approximately fifty voices comprise this group which travels on concerts to surrounding high schools, which has sung during the past year at Atlantic City, and participated in the annual college Christmas program. One of the greatest achievements of this season was the November broadcast over radio station WNBC. The voice of MSTC traveled over the air waves in a coast-to-coast hook up, and the hearts of Montclair listeners soared sky high.

Members flock faithfully to the gym, every Thursday to perfect their dancing techniques under the guidance of both faculty and student directors.

Montclairites doff their hats to this ambitious and enthusiastic group. The programs it has put on have been refreshing and stimulating. The long hours of practice and hard work have been well worth the effort!

Players welcomes all students to whom the smell of greasepaint, the rush of rehearsals, the search for elusive props, or the long hours spent erecting and lighting sets is as satisfying—almost—as the wave of applause following the final curtain on opening night.

Through its system of apprentice groups, Players provides experience in all phases of play production. After having served as an apprentice for one semester, the new member becomes a voting member of the club and continues to work on any of the groups which interest him during his college career. He may in time become eligible for the Players honor key, which is awarded on the basis of number of hours of work and unselfish interest in the organization.

Players' major fall and spring productions for the past year were Williams' "Night Must Fall" and Shakespeare's "Tempest". In addition, the club sponsored a one-act play contest among the other clubs on campus. The proceeds of the contest went to the War Memorial Fund and to the winning club went MSTC's first "Oscar".

NIGHT MUST FALL

After successful runs in London, on Broadway, and in the world of film, Night Must Fall came to Montclair as this year's fall Players production. Emlyn Williams' exciting and suspenseful play proved to be another outstanding MSTC dramatic achievement. It was presented for six November nights at College High for capacity crowds of enthusiastic Montclair students and friends. Later the cast and crews traveled to Lyndhurst High School where the play was presented for the benefit of the MSTC Student War Memorial Fund.

Those who saw the play agree that all concerned with the production, actors, directors, and technicians alike worked smoothly and skillfully together to make this one of the most memorable of Players presentations.

The Arrowhead is the student handbook designed to assist freshmen in familiarizing themselves with MSTC. It is published annually by the Freshman Orientation Committee of the SGA. Following a policy of standardization, the handbook is based on previous issues with respect to format and information on clubs. It is, however, always kept up-to-date.

It can safely be said that this handbook is one of the best friends the Freshman has during the hectic initiation week. Most students will remember how, in their first days of confusion, they turned to the informative pages of Arrowhead.

Quarterly, the college literary magazine, contains the widest range of material found in any of our literary publications. Original short stories, poems and articles submitted by students and faculty members alike all find their places in this unique assortment of Montclair creative works. Both faculty adviser and student staffs work together to select, complete, illustrate and publish the material submitted for each seasonal edition.

Originality and variety are keynotes to the literary appeal of Quarterly. At each appearance of this popular publication, Quarterly readers are swept from their academic pursuits to the realms of literary explanation and enjoyment. Is this not proof of Quarterly's appeal?

MONTCLARION

Out of the depths of a crowded, cluttered, smoke filled basement room emerges our college newspaper, The Montclairion. The Pub Office, home and birth-place of this publication, which celebrates its twentieth anniversary this year, is in a constant whirl of motion and activity. Here are nurtured the news and reports of virtually all college functions.

This all-inclusive picture of Montclair life is the product of long hard hours of work and capable effort on the part of the staff members and editors. Hectic as the life of a newspaperman may be, the inhabitants of the Pub Office all agree it's an experience they'll never regret—or forget!

HISTORY OF COLLEGE HEIGHTS

February 15, 1947 saw a mass migration into a sea of mud which is now officially known as "College Heights." Dean Messick had formally presented the keys to Larry Campbell, the first tenant, and to Mr. Otto Cordes, our "guardian angel."

Slipping into their hip boots, the "vets" moved in . . . wives, children and pets. This was home until that "June" when those coveted degrees would be awarded. The casual observer probably would have wondered at the old world custom of carrying the bride over the threshold. This was not gallantry on the part of the husband—merely avoiding the necessity of transporting the front lawn into the house on two more muddy feet. The absence of many things were felt the first few months, however, there was no absence of mud—nice, sticky, gooey, deep mud. Duck walks became the order of the day with all hands on deck working as a community. Soon, to the great annoyance of the "union" carpenters working on Robert Hall, we could keep our feet clean when venturing forth to borrow the inevitable hammer, wrench or cup of sugar.

As the months went by things began to move. We acquired a volunteer crew of sanitation engineers (garbage collectors), a volunteer fire department, a road, front walks, street lights and the beginning of lawns. The slapping of paint brushes could be heard far into the night as the entire settlement went in for interior decorating.

We decided to hold meetings once in a while to iron out our problems. We elected a community committee of four "vets", Robert Kuhn, Russ Reed, Doug Flynn and Ted McMillan, to handle the problems of our growing community. Working with us were the three faculty members of College Heights, Dr. Ritter, Mr. Morehead and Dr. MacLachlan.

By the fall of 1947 everyone had painted the last spot, stopped rearranging furniture and settled down; the husbands to the more serious business of studying and the wives to the less serious, but nevertheless, important task of swapping recipes.

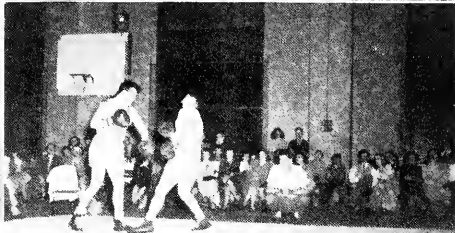

During the next year we lost some of our original settlers but gained lots of new tenants. As time went by the memories of painting, papering, the lack of roads and lights and our unconquerable mud faded as we turned to the inevitable growing; and grow we did—thirty-nine families, twenty-five children, eleven dogs, four cats and two television sets . . . making another page in the history of Montclair State Teachers College.
